Bite the Big One!: A Paranormal Romantic Comedy (The Full Monty Book 1) By Sharon Karaa

Jennifer Owens had her fair share of troubles, what with being pestered by dead people and having to dodge the well-intentioned spells cast by her best friend, Becky. On top of that, she has to contend with a sex-mad octogenarian who seemed to be stalking her. She didn't think things could get any worse. But that was before she became the target of a band of vampires who wanted to protect a secret that only she could unlock, if only she could figure out what it was. A steaming hot vampire slayer is determined to be her knight in shining armour, but is he real or another one of Becky's silly spells? And would they be able to figure out the vampire secret before she becomes their dinner?

Editorial Review

From the Author

He told me he was a gardener; a landscape gardener, no less. Not once did he mention "slash vampire slayer". I'm pretty sure if he had, the sexy eyes and bulging biceps wouldn't have looked quite so appealing.

But who was I to talk?

When I was a child, I wanted to be a ballet dancer, or a gymnast, or even a swordfish (admittedly I was suffering from hallucinations brought on by a fever at the time). I never, ever, in my wildest moments, thought that when I grew up, I'd be the chronicle of the dead. Nor would I have wanted to. The dead don't keep office hours and certainly don't respect your privacy when you're on the loo. And they don't pay. I had to resort to selling sex aids to geriatrics just to keep a roof over my head.

On the plus side, I was never out of work. There was always a queue of them (the dead that is, not geriatrics). Wherever you turned they were there, waiting their turn, wanting to pass on the messages they hadn't had the forethought to pass on before they did. But someone didn't want one of the messages to be delivered. Someone who wasn't entirely in the land of the living themselves. Someone who was willing to go to extreme lengths to shut me up.

On top of all that, I had to spend my days dodging the ill-conceived spells my best friend cast in her quest to ensure I achieved the ultimate in sexual satisfaction (my advice? Don't tell your friend if you've never had a Big O, especially if she's a witch!). And now my dog's back-answering me as well. As if I didn't have enough to cope with!

Someone please give me fate's address...I feel a strongly worded letter coming on!

About the Author

Sharon Karaa is a mass of contradictions but two facets of her character have always battled for supremacy; her logical self (let's call him Frank) and her artistic side (lets her call Misty).

Until recently, Frank won every battle, forcing Sharon into a life based on most probable outcome and, to give him his credit, it has led to a fairly comfortable if rather boring life so far.

Then Misty took up kick boxing and gave Frank a good kick in the goodies.

Sharon lives with her husband in a little village north of Newcastle upon Tyne, England. She doesn't have a cat.
