A survivor. soulmate. A secret.

After surviving a jet crash that killed everyone else aboard, a young woman awakens with no memory except near death experience flashbacks. She must discover what makes her special—uncovering a biological secret that could hold the key to immortality.

High school student Amanda Michaels' biggest problems vanish once she boards a plane with her mom and scientist father. The plane crashes, killing everyone aboard—except Amanda. Recovering from injuries that should have killed her, she wakes with amnesia and troubling random flashbacks, uncertain who she can trust while trying to unravel the secrets of her father's cellular research. The trail leads Amanda and her high profile attorney uncle Andy to altered "telomeres," which aid in cell healing and extending human lifespan. Pursued by both US government and foreign intelligence agents, Amanda doggedly pursues the biological telomere research trail, which may also unlock the secret of immortality. A series of stunning twists unwind along the path to the unforeseen climax.

What to expect inside:

Explore medical breakthroughs involving cell telomeres;

Peeks inside top secret Foreign Intelligence Courts;

Spying. Covert Ops.

From Middleburg, Virginia horse farms, Washington, DC, to Manhattan.

Editorial Review

Review

Bloomberg Businessweek (3/23/2015)

'A masterpiece' and 'spellbinding page turner' are just some of the praises showered on this cutting-edge biological thriller...a whirlwind of biological espionage woven into a gripping tale furiously moving from Washington DC to New York to Middleburg ... a string of unexpected plot twists, and a highly unanticipated climax complete the thriller joyride.

Anne Boling-Readers' Favorite 5 Stars

A Hemispheres airplane crashes, killing Andy Michaels brother and sister-in-law; only his niece Amanda survives. Amanda has a mild brain injury leaving her with amnesia; she must wear a halo until her bones heal. The plot falls into the genres of intrigue, mystery, suspense, and sci-fi. A tale that will keep readers eagerly turning the pages...

RevolutionaryMom.com:

I've read hundreds of books and I can guess how most of them will end, sometimes even where the plot will go. But I have to say I was unable to predict what's going to happen in TTT. R.N. Shapiro wrote a fantastic novel, I was simply drawn to the story, right from the start. There are so many twists and turns, you won't know what's going to happen and will do good guys win. I'm sure I will get back to this book in a year or two. It's what I usually do when I get my hands on a masterpiece and TTT IS a masterpiece.

C. Rodriquez-5 Stars

TTT is a fictional thriller loosely based on a true story. "He who tames the telomere tames cell death." What will the USA do to defend its biological supremacy? What will others do to steal it? The intrigue of a "real life phenomena" woven within a fictional tale is exceptionally captivating. Amanda, was written brilliantly. Her coming of age story far surpasses the normal rites of passage into adulthood.

"Taming" won the Gold Award for top fiction thriller in the 2015 Readers' Favorite Int'l. Book Award Contest. Annually the contest fields books by thousands of entrants on an international basis, from independent authors, small publishers, and publishing giants like Random House, HarperCollins and Simon & Schuster, and past contestants include J.A. Jance, James Rollins, and #1 best-selling author Daniel Silva, as well as celebrity authors like Jim Carrey (Bruce Almighty), Henry Winkler (Happy Days), and Eriq La Salle (E.R., Coming to America). The author of Taming the Telomeres researched "Taming" for nearly three years before completing the manuscript. Rick drew from his experiences as a trial attorney and as a Capitol Hill staff assistant before law school. Rick resided in the Washington, D.C. area during college and law school, and explored Middleburg, Virginia, Georgetown, and several of the geographical areas that appear in Taming the Telomeres.

He received his college degree from the University of Maryland, served as staff assistant to a U.S. Congressman, and graduated from George Mason University School of Law (with distinction). He practices law with Shapiro, Lewis, Appleton & Duffan law firm.

As an inventor, he has invented and designed a number of folding, compact consumer products, including folding wagons, baby jogging strollers and the like. In connection with inventing and designing, Rick has travelled to Europe, Japan, Taiwan and China. He licensed a folding wagon patent to Radio Flyer, and is currently designing folding baby stroller products with Big Max, a European sporting goods company, being introduced under the Nikimotion baby stroller line in Europe during 2015.

He currently resides in Virginia Beach, Virginia.

From the Inside Flap

A complicated fast paced story that is highly sophisticated and a fun puzzle for the reader to solve!
